

To Whom It May Concern,

As frequent express and international shippers, we have been fortunate to partner with Betachon, and have known them to be a huge asset to our company. They are very reliable, easily accessible, and 100% customer service oriented. They audit all our shipments for late, weight, or claim issues and earn every penny for their work.

At first I was fine the way things were and didn't think there could be too much savings. But after only 2 months of Betachon going over our bills, I was clearly mistaken. They got credit for shipments that I thought were nearly impossible and drastically brought our shipping expenses lower. What's even better is that we only pay them if they save us money!

Betachon would be an asset to any company, and I am happy to give my wholehearted endorsement.

Sincerely,
